AMERICAN LEGION COMMITTEE IN SESSION HERE MAKES PRELIMINARY ARRANGEMENTS FOR STATE MEETING

Marking the beginning of activities in preparation for the American Legion state convention which will be held in Ogden, May 31, June 1 and 2, at which more than 600 delegates and legion members are expected to be present, a meeting of the convention committee was held yesterday afternoon. Preliminary arrangements were made for hotel accommodations for the former service men, obtaining of special railroad rates and for the decoration of the city.

J. Ray Ward, a member of the state executive committee and chairman of the convention committee, presided at the meeting.

As a result of certain regulations of the legion that conventions cannot be held in any building occupied for religious or fraternal activities, it was decided to hold the convention session in the Ogden high school assembly hall, providing permission can be obtained. Efforts will be made to gain the cooperation of the business men of Ogden in the decoration of streets and stores in addition to the decorations that will be installed by the city.

The greatest problem brought before the convention committee was the accommodation of the more than 600 ex-service men who will attend the sessions. A solution is sought through the inauguration of a campaign to secure rooms in private homes in addition to hotels and rooming houses. A survey will be made immediately and a list of all Ogden residents who offer to provide rooms will be prepared. With this list completed it is believed it will be an easy matter to billet the visitors during their three-day stay. One of the big features of the convention will be the huge Decoration Day celebration in which all the legion members who attend the convention will participate in addition to G. A. R. and Spanish War veterans and other military bodies. While the Decoration Day program has not yet been arranged, it was announced by the committee yesterday that the demonstration will be the largest ever held in Ogden.

Committees chosen yesterday which will begin activities immediately to get the convention preparations under way follow:

Headquarters, hall and registration committee—Arch Moyses, K. C. Tripp, Lynn Lundberg.

Billet committee—Joseph Evans, Larry Dee.

Publicity manager—Floyd A. Timmerman.

Entertainment committee—H. R. Vowles, Ensign Herrick.

Decorations committee—Norman Sims, Owen Sherwood.

Railroads committee—K. C. Tripp, chairman.

All members of the Ogden American Legion post are urged to be present tomorrow night at a meeting in the University club when plans for the state convention will be further discussed and complete committees named. Plans will also be made at the meeting for the naming of eight Ogden delegates to the convention. The Ogden delegates will be chosen the following week at the regular post meeting.

He is certain that the Goodyear will give as much or greater mileage than any other make and as to speed, there can be no discount.

"The Goodyear pneumatic cord tires have been tested under all circumstances and found not lacking in quality," Mr. Turner states, "and these tires, which are pioneers in the truck game, make speedy deliveries and are fuel-saving tires, besides saving wear and tear on the truck and avoiding breaking in the cargo."

WENT ON 'PARTIES' BUT NOT WITH HER, WIFE TELLS JUDGE

Following the completion of taking of final testimony late yesterday afternoon in the suit of Annie M. Jordan against James L. Jordan, for divorce, Judge A. E. Pratt announced that he would take the case under advisement.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Jordan were on the witness stand during the final hours of the trial in addition to other witnesses who gave testimony. Mrs. Jordan testified that for five years previous to their coming to Ogden and after arriving here, her husband has been in company with other women on "parties" and at other times. She admitted, however, that she had no knowledge of his actions until after reaching Ogden.

Mr. Jordan testified that his wife had become fanatical through intense devotion to a certain religious creed and failed to provide him with the care that a wife should. He declared that she refused to attend him when he was ill and made it necessary for him to move to a hotel during his sickness.

Mr. and Mrs. Jordan were married in Cheyenne, Wyo., July 12, 1893. A similar suit filed by Mrs. Jordan and tried before Judge Pratt last March was dismissed by the court.

New Fox Production a Wonderful Play at Utah

"Should a Husband Forgive?" the much-heralded William Fox special, which opened at the Utah theatre today, is one of the best melodramas seen here in a long time. The story holds one's interest every moment and the tenseness of the situations gives thrill after thrill.

R. A. Walsh, a master of big spectacular productions, in this picture, has applied to the utmost his exceptional ability. He has taken a real, human interest story and woven it into a wonderful play. It deals with a young girl, who has been brought up amid racing people and horses, and who, left alone in the world, is beset by evil men. She falls in love with a southern boy, who eventually forsakes her when gossip tells him she has a past. Despite this she saves him from financial ruin by riding his horse to victory, after learning of a plot which would have made him a pauper. The all-star cast is headed by Miriam Cooper and includes Mrs. James K. Hackett.
